EXCITEMENT OVER THE NEW GOLD DISTRICT.

The first pack train load of ore from the recent discovery at Buffalo Hump, arrived in Florence Wednesday. There is a little over a ton of it, and it is the first installment of a carload that is to be shipped to the Tacoma smelter for a test, says the Miner, of Florence, lone of Robins & Rigley's locations, and looks fine.

Frank Hrown, who is running the pack train, says they will not stop with a carload, but will continue to pack out as long as the trail remains open. Everybody coming in from Rigley says the ledges are all showing up fine wherever work is being done.

We hear wonderful reports from the Monte Christo, owned by James Turner. Mr. Turner is pushing development work on this claim.

Quite a number of mining men and representatives of capital are arriving in Florence, en route to the new camp.
